Teen Towners Have Bathing House Painted

Teen Town had its first party with about forty teen-agers present. Cpl. and Mrs. F. Any attended and did much towards making the evening a success.

The dancing, games and lunch were all enjoyed in the Masonic Hall. The bountiful lunch was provided by the Masons, also, and the whole was very much appreciated by the teen-agers. Deputy Mayor Donald Hunter took the chair for the meeting as Mayor Biddell was absent. The treasurer's report informed the teen-agers that Teen Town owed $15. A presentation from G.H.S. Students Union. The constitution is to follow that of Federation, moderated slightly, and will be printed soon.

Membership fees were settled at an executive meeting as 50c each or $1. a family per term. The teen-agers voted and agreed to paint the bathing house at the swimming pool. Advantage was taken of the occasion to present Dorcas Hook told with a going-away gift from the numerous friends.

We will keep you posted, teen-agers, with our Teen Town plans.

HERE AND THERE

Some persons are telling us that $218 wheat present world price would be harmful if our farmers received it. These persons argue that high wheat prices in 1920 were harmful to farmers inasmuch as these high prices were followed by a crash in twelve months afterwards. This is a fallacious argument for in 1920 the prices of all commodities in all countries of the world fell, many of them lower in proportion than wheat and the same was true of the price falls in the depression of the thirties. In 1920 wheat declined 50 percent, potatoes 84, cotton 81, June 64, tin 64, rubber 64 and lead 60, commodities which have nothing to do with wheat or wheat or with agriculture. The truth is that the price of wheat today has nothing whatever to do with serious price declines that may occur later. Prices are made by world conditions. If conditions warrant a rise, prices will rise. If conditions warrant a fall, prices will fall, not only in wheat but in all commodities. And that happens when prices are fixed by governments lower than the world market price is that farmers lose just what amount of money as they lose, and they will never receive a

News Items of Local Interest

Mrs. Telford and relatives left last night for Vancouver where they will visit friends and relatives for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Froggatt left Saturday for Saskatchewan to visit relatives. They will return in about a week and proceed north for a holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Plante of Hay Lake, Alberta, arrived in town last to spend a few days visiting relatives here.

The exterior of the bathing house at the swimming pool has received a coat of paint and looks much better for the treatment. Being painted and one thing another has held up the repair work on the swimming pool. It is hoped to have the repair work finished this week so that swimming can take place.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Staback of Calgary spent the weekend in town visiting relatives. While here they spoke a lot of the local boys for making a holiday in town is more quiet than a holiday by for some reason or other cars came and went all day creating unusual amount of life.

For a holiday, with no celebration scheduled, July 1st seemed to be one of unusual activity in town. Usually a holiday in town is more quiet than a Sunday but for some reason or other cars came and went all day creating unusual amount of life.

More than 120,000 strip or sectional road maps are being made available to motorists in this province by the A.M.A. These maps are at official appointments of the A.M.A. including garages and filling stations, hotels, lake resorts and auto camps. The list includes 14,000 sectional maps of the Peace River highways which are being distributed. These will be of special interest to those who are planning northern trips this year, with the possibility of looking over territory in the region of the Alaska highway. Civilian holiday travel has not yet been authorized over the Alaska highway.

Higher prices later to make up for it. The world today is paying $21.10 a bushel for American wheat. Why should not our prairie farmers, therefore, also receive this price from these same overseas purchasers?

Alberta's forest area measures nearly six times as large as the Kingdom of Belgium. By far the greater part of the provincial woodland grows on soil not adapted to agriculture. This is especially true of the vast forested areas that are the property of the Alberta Rivers flowing out of the Rocky Mountains. The land in which the tree growth is rendered less attractive for the farmer is stripped of forest cover to tend to disintegrate under the heavy wash of spring floods. Nature clearly designed such locations to be kept permanently in woods which, in turn, supply a highly essential control to water flow and at the same time furnish an unsurpassed scenery.

Switzerland's forest and mountain areas are somewhat similar to those of Alberta. The Swiss experiment station, one of the oldest in the world, found startling proof of the value of watershed forests in regulating rivers. Two identical areas have been under study. One 98 per cent wooded, the other 30 per cent. At high water level, the channel of the deforested river carries 30 to 50 per cent more water than the wooded region. In prolonged dry spells, the springs of the deforested region dry up completely and the bed of the stream is dry, while the stream from the wooded region produces water in ready supply. What surprises many investigators is that the amount of water discharged by the two streams during the year is about the same. In other words, Mother Nature designed the watershed forests to feed the rivers with a regulated flow, but in doing so does not waste the water itself.

How do you deal with deadwood? Some people decide they can't. Or won't. So they leave home, quit their job, "bolt the convention or go home" in town affairs. Some just "grin and bear it" and let the state market price is that farmers lose just what amount of money as they lose, and they will never receive a highway and it seems that this will not commence until 1947. Parents to drive over the road to be obtained from the traffic board in Edmonton. Certain travel over the road is permitted but this in most cases is confined to people who intend to settle in the north country.

The annual Blackfoot Indian Sun Dance which has been in progress for several days came to an abrupt end Monday. The decision to end the dance came when Many Guns, an aged Indian who had much to do with promoting the dance, died suddenly from a heart attack at the Sun Dance camp grounds. Treaty money has to have been paid the Indians at the camp grounds today just before they before they broke up camp. Now it will be paid to the Indians from the agency office. Meantime the Indians are getting ready to trek to the Calgary Stampede this week and where they will have the time of their lives displaying their agility to the white men.

The mushroom crop this year is magnificent and many people spend a lot of their time rooting over mushroom patches.

A lot of the Gleichen boys and girls who work for a living in Calgary and elsewhere spent the week-end holidays in town calling on their old friends.

DEMOCRACY WORKS

The achievements of the democracies in war, when they reached a greater measure of production and efficiency than the dictatorships were able to reach, proved beyond argument that democracy as a system is not only more efficient, but greater prosperity as well as greater freedom and happiness.

Last week the Chief Electoral Officer issued his detailed report on Canada's 20th general election, held last year, and comments and arguments about Canada's democracy in action are still going on in the Capital.

Of almost 7 million electors on the list over 70 percent went to the polls to register their choice of a government to guide Canada's course for a possible period of five years. 45 percent of our electors are on the lists of rural polls.

Other interesting and perhaps surprising facts emerge from a study of the detailed election results. The stronghold of the Liberal party is the province of Ontario where it received over 747 thousand votes, Quebec coming second with 722 thousand supporting Liberalism. The Maritime—Vancouver cast 274 thousand and Liberal votes and the four western provinces 420 thousand.

The progressive conservative party also received its largest support in Ontario, 157 thousand, but ran second to the Liberals in Ontario outside the Toronto district, and in other parts of the province.

The CCF party had substantial support in the four western provinces, 458 thousand, but made a poor showing elsewhere. Its supporters scored 283 thousand votes, mostly in Quebec.

REAL INCOME In most countries of the world people have learned that real income can be measured only by the amount of goods that the money will buy. One of the Capital's leading dailies the Ottawa Citizen has discovered further proof that on this basis Canadians are in a fortunate position.

Prices have risen of course, but taking the latest figures available for all countries the rise since 1939 has been: Canada wholesale prices 43 percent, retail prices 19 percent; Great Britain wholesale prices 73 percent, retail 31 percent; in Australia wholesale 39 percent, retail 23 percent, in Sweden wholesale 71

United Church Pot Luck Supper Thursday Evening

Rev. W. E. Sieber
Rev. W. E. Sieber, who will be officiating Sunday at the Gleichen Pastoral Charge of the United Church tomorrow evening, Thursday, moved into the Manse on Monday, July 1st. He is accompanied by his wife, Mrs. M. C. Wilson, her husband and little daughter, Donalda.

Coming from Ontario he has served churches in Alberta for nearly 22 years—graduating from the College in Edmonton.

Mr. Sieber has written many articles of common interest to local weekly newspapers as well as several hymns and a number of poems. The congregation's welcoming activities include a Pot Luck supper to be held in the Community Hall Thursday evening at 6.30.

His preaching ministry in the local church will begin next Sunday evening.

percent, retail 43 percent. In other countries prices have been much greater. Since these figures were issued Canada's wholesale price level has risen 2 percent and that of Great Britain and the United States over 3 percent.

If continued pressures on wages and prices are allowed to break our present price structure the result will be a lower income and lower standard of living.

BUDGET REACTIONS

Almost 600,000 Canadians were perfectly satisfied with the terms of the budget brought down by Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King last week. They were those whose income tax was entirely wiped out. The general opinion expressed by hundreds across Canada in almost the same words was "Well it's about time and I guess that is as far as the government can go now."

Quiet businessmen were happy to become excess profit taxes were wiped out for them. Corporation officials felt that the government should have followed the example of the Labor government in Britain and wiped out their excess profit tax.

Farmers and fishermen are pleased that they will now pay their tax on the basis of their average income over a three year period.

But two prominent public men are very unhappy about Mr. Mackenzie's budget. Premiers Brown and Duplessis, faced with the results of their constructional tactics at the Dominion Provincial conference, are now trying frantically to explain away their provincialism.

In one way World War II has benefited industry as regards fire extinguishers. Foam extinguishers have been in use for many years but the new materials used in this method had the disadvantage of being expensive and they had to be imported from abroad. The foam producing material had to be not only sufficiently stable but also lighter than petrol. The scientists of the war were called in to study the problem and they were successful in producing a cheap, dependable and effective agent for home use. The new agent is much better than the previous used as it has been immediately adopted.

function again, but no one is really happy about it. The last resort is to smash the deadlock through divorce, a strike or lockout, a revolution or an atom bomb.

None of these ways exactly leaves the door open to peace. They either leave it locked or make men bitter enough to break it down. A deadlock hammer is no answer to a deadlock. We need a key.

A wise man once said that "when people close the door on each other, they fasten it with one of the seven bolts—pride, anger, sloth, gluttony, lust, envy or malice." Today we might call them the seven deadly sins for if we track down the cause of an industrial dispute, a family squabble or even a world war, we usually will find somebody's pride, anger or some other of these motives at the bottom of it. Men trying to work out a deadlock bring these sins into the conference room and with them along with their abilities and bright ideas. This suggests the missing key.

The key in every case is simple but promise or clash but change. It is willingness to be dealt honest with each other checking up our own faults instead of pointing out the other fellow's.

At the dinner table or the conference room the man who always wanted to be right will have to change, swallow his pride and admit he was fellow will have to see whether, possibly, his anger should be redirected at himself. Men who envy each other will have to drop their pride of war and start pulling as a team.

The key in every case is simple but expensive. It hurts to swallow pride. There is always gain in the change. But it is also painful to smash deadlocks and it leaves new heads. We might as well choose growing pains and end the deadlock with a cure instead of with a broken principle, a broken home, a tied up industry or broken skulls.

Take responsibility on your shoulders and it leaves no room for chips.

Reminding people that flies are germ carriers the health department has issued a reasonable warning in the war against these pests. It is advised that special care be taken this summer to check screening to keep flies out of buildings, particularly where there are young children. It is suggested that parents use part of their Family Allowance money to provide adequate screens and mosquito netting.

If others can't see where you stand, they soon see where you fall. Wrong. The man angry at the other

National Parks

Miette Hot Springs in Jasper National Park is one of the most popular camping places in the Canadian Rockies. Whether it is because of the lure of the hot mineral baths or because of its superb scenic setting, this campground seems to have a special appeal to those who like to spend a vacation under canvas. It is 39 miles from the town of Jasper and is accessible to motorists by a good road linked with the Jasper-Edmonton highway at Pochanontia. It has been equipped by the National Parks Administration with kitchens, tables, benches, stoves, water supply, electric lights, and modern sanitary facilities. Additional improvements to this campsite are under consideration and will be executed as the need for more accommodation arises.

Other similarly equipped campsites in Jasper National Park are Cottonwood Creek Auto Camp and Patricia Lake Auto Camp, both within a few miles of Jasper town. All of these campsites are divided into lots approximately 25 by 40 feet, allowing ample space for each car. Visitors are able to enjoy modern conveniences such as electric lights and running water and at the same time satisfy that natural desire to live out of doors in the summer time. The stores in Jasper town are well stocked with supplies, so that campers, except those arriving late in the evening or on Sunday have no need to worry about the food problem. Besides, restaurants in Jasper are open at all hours. Campers should, however, bring along with them a tent or a cabin trailer, cooking utensils, blankets and camp cots. If they are travelling in the spring or late summer they should also have with them some warm outdoor clothes, because the nights are cool in the mountains at that time of year.

In addition to these campsites there are three equipped picnic grounds located at Athabasca Falls 20 miles south of Jasper, Jonas Creek 48 miles south of Jasper, and Columbia Ice Fields 67 miles south of Jasper, all along the famous Banff-Jasper highway. They are equipped with open air kitchens, stoves, tables, benches, open air fireplaces and sanitary facilities.

The campsites in Jasper and other national parks in Canada are likely to be used to capacity this summer if the forecasts for the 1946 tourist season prove accurate. For those who are unable to obtain hotel or bungalow accommodations a camping holiday may make the difference between vacanting in the mountains this year or waiting for the summer of 1947 to realize their long cherished hope. For those who prefer to spend their vacation under canvas the campgrounds in Canada's national parks will always have a special appeal because of their unique settings and the care with which they are administered.

For about a year now the small English town of Norwich has offered a sight worth seeing and the only one of its kind in the world. The city electrical engineer has developed a heating process based on entirely new principles and engineers from all over the world have come to Norwich to see it. In this process the engineer uses neither coal or electricity but simply condenses the cold water from the river into the building he is heating. He works on the theory that condensation produces heat and his heat pump has proved so successful that he has been able to maintain a temperature of nearly 68 degrees F. In a five story corporation building. This new British system of compression heating has the great advantage that working costs amount to one-third of those incurred by electric or coal heating.

1946 Stylemaster Sedan Makes First Trans-Canada Trip to Win Todd Medal for Brig. R. A. Macfarlane

DOWN "CANADA'S MAIN STREET"—The Trans-Canada Highway, which links province to province, from sea to sea, and opens the way to a great new era of tourist travel.

NEARING THE END OF THE TRAIL—J. V. Johnson and George Warren of the Victoria Automobile Club, meet Brigadier Macfarlane and his Chevrolet a few miles outside Victoria and escort him into the City.

THROUGH THE ROCKIES—The Chevrolet spent thrilling hours skirting steep precipices and climbing high mountain roads before it encountered this quiet little valley in Canada's Rocky Range.

Rolling along "Canada's Main Street"—the Trans-Canada Highway—from coast to coast, Brigadier R. A. Macfarlane, D.S.O., at the wheel of a new 1946 Chevrolet Sedan, has just completed the first ocean-to-ocean automobile trip without leaving Canadian soil.

To win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal—offered in 1912 by the Mayor of Victoria—Brig. Macfarlane left Louisbourg, Nova Scotia, with the salt of the Atlantic on his rear wheels, and after nine days of driving he arrived in Victoria, Vancouver Island, B.C., and dipped his front wheels in the Pacific, having covered

4,743 MILES

The Chevrolet used was a stock 1946 model powered with a standard six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. It was selected by Brig. Macfarlane, who held the responsible post of Director of Mechanization and Deputy Master-General of Ordnance, at Defence Headquarters, Ottawa—because he is convinced that a "sturdy, light, economical passenger car is ideal for the average Canadian citizen." With his extensive experience of army vehicles, on the testing grounds and on active service in two wars, Brig. Macfarlane made the new Chevrolet his choice for his history-making trip—another "first" for Chevrolet.

THE PACIFIC—After 4,743 miles of the most arduous driving, Brigadier Macfarlane and his co-driver dip the front wheels of their Chevrolet in the Pacific Ocean—to win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal.
